

Marta Smith

Marta has recently “retired” from the practice of law after 42 and ½ years, practising primarily in the area of Family Law. She has a variety of firm experiences: small firm as an associate, large firm as partner, small firm for 20 years as a partner, and finally a mid-size firm as an associate. She chose to work 4 days a week for 30+ years which she feels contributed to her long healthy work career.

Marta wishes to share her insights and experience with other members of the profession, including those leading up to her decision to cease private practice at the end of 2020, as it was not as and when she expected. She feels it is very important to consider the role which law plays in your life.

Marta considers herself very fortunate to have had a wonderful career and fully appreciates that this is not what everyone experiences from their work. She views this next stage of her life as an opportunity for “re-wirement” or “re-firement” and is excited for whatever new life experiences come her way. She has recently started to volunteer with children.
